

House Democrats last evening urged the Senate to pass unemployment insurance, to be responsive to Americans' needs, to abandon politics, and to give their constituents the benefits they deserve.

The Senate passed the extension today and the House will take it up tomorrow.